GOLDEN GLOW
says
Did you ever see more beautiful coloring than in our maple trees this year? And not only maple trees, but the sumach with its brilliant red, and the scarlet of Virginia creeper? And what about the flowers in our gardens?
It is several weeks since I commented on the wonderful gardens around town - never dreaming that on Oct. 7 as I write, the gardens and flower borders would be bright with autumn flowers - yes and summer flowers too, for the annuals are still flowering gaily and profusely - petunias, and especially zinnias with their multi-colored sturdy blossoms. They are one of the most satisfactory flowers to have in your garden - so cheery, with every color from white and pale yellow, pink and blue, to deep tangerine, crimson and purple. Such satisfactory flowers for they bloom right along until a killing frost cuts all the flowers down. Even nasturtiums are still blooming, and they are one of our tenderest blossoms, and so are the dahlias and they are blooming freely yet with heaps of buds.
Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hopper, Millard Ave., always have beauties and this year is no exception. If we have no frost before Thursday, when you may be reading this, you may have a chance to see them. They have been wonderful and are still in flower.
I feel I must enlarge on that statement I began with, about
the maple trees. Everywhere
you go you see them, some are pure gold, and you recall the poet who wrote about "Golden September" - and again some are mixed gold and crimson, while many are still green. Such a contrast!
A week ago we took a drive
to see the colored maple trees
and we went to see the lovely coloring on the trees at Gamble
woods, and we came back along that beautiful scenic road that skirts Glenville pond. Then we decided to go west from Glenville and see if the bridge over
the new highway was completed. It is, and what a bridge - magnificent seems to be the only word to apply to the beauty of the workmanship. The approach from north and south, the
grand view in both directions,
especially the north, where
through the opening of the hills
you see a vista of the Holland
Marsh spreading out before your eyes makes a trip there worth
your while.
If anyone likes French Marigolds (I know I do), those cheery, bright-faced little follows that bloom right along up
to a killing frost, then go down
Church St. and see Mr. Gilroy's
long row, next to the rectory of the Anglican church. He has Marigolds every year, and we all love them; Another place merits "Honorable Mention" and that is Club 14 on Millard Ave.
(the former Oddfellows' Hall)
and the building immediately
west of it. Max Boag must have used magic, I am sure. He has persuaded green grass to grow
in this hottest of hot summers,
and shrubs, and perennials. The dainty little barberry bushes are like flames now and are as pretty as flowers. If you walk past there, be sure and look at the cute shutters on the house
west of the Oddfellows' Hall that he has made into several apartments, and notice the splendid cement retaining walls at both places. Both places are so attractive you will enjoy seeing them if you have not been along
there lately.
The Michaelmas daisy is now
at its best, and the pale mauve, tiny daisy-like flowers line our roads in some places. I visited a new home last week which has a winding driveway and it was a picture as you drove along between lanes of those lovely flowers. They built with the view of sparing the lovely trees
and the house itself is set high
up with a gorgeous view in every direction. The large picture window at the west opens
out on the front lawn with two delightful hawthorn trees full of berries - just think what they will be when covered with blossom in the spring.
Before I end this I want to say that a neighbor has had a magnificent Easter lily blossom
in her garden this past month -
it was fully six inches across.
She has Angel's Trumpet and
narcissus flowers in her garden
now and as you pass her home
in the evening the air is fragrant
with their perfume.
At the home opposite Mr. Gil-
roy's Rev. F. M. Brunton's, immediately north of Lions Park, is one to watch. His Virgin Bower
clematis covering the porch is still a wonderful sight, with the verandah boxes full of petunias
and perennial candytuft and
sweet alyssum and scarlet geraniums. Do take a walk and see it all for yourself.

Plan Teen Age Night
In Mt. Albert Oct. 27
A teen-age social night will be held in the Mount Albert hall on Thursday, Oct. 27, at 8 o'clock. All young people 14 years and over are welcome. The gentlemen will pay 25 cents,
the ladies will bring sandwiches. The committee in charge: R. Stewart, J. Campbell, V. Oldham, J. Rye, Florence Harrison, David
Crone, Barbara Pearson,
Lois Rye, Douglas Cupples, Murray Broad.
reading this, you may have a chance to see them. They have been wonderful and are still in
flower.
I feel I must enlarge on that
statement I began with, about
the maple trees. Everywhere
you go you see them, some are
pure gold, and you recall the
poet who wrote about "Golden September" - and again some are mixed gold and crimson, while many are still green. Such a contrast!
A week ago we took a drive
to see the colored maple trees
and we went to see the lovely
coloring on the trees at Gamble
woods, and we came back along
that beautiful scenic road that skirts Glenville pond. Then we decided to go west from Glen-
ville and see if the bridge over
the new highway was completed. It is, and what a bridge -
magnificent seems to be the only
word to apply to the beauty of
the workmanship. The approach
from north and south, the
grand view in both directions,
especially the north, where
through the opening of the hills
you see a vista of the Holland
Marsh spreading out before your
eyes makes a trip there worth
your while.
If anyone likes French Marigolds (I know I do), those
cheery, bright-faced little follows that bloom right along up
to a killing frost, then go down
Church St. and see Mr. Gilroy's
long row, next to the rectory of
the Anglican church. He has Marigolds every year, and we
all love them; Another place
merits "Honorable Mention" and
that is Club 14 on Millard Ave.
(the former Oddfellows' Hall)
and the building immediately
west of it. Max Boag must have used magic, I am sure. He has
persuaded green grass to grow
in this hottest of hot summers,
and shrubs, and perennials. The dainty little barberry bushes are
like flames now and are as
pretty as flowers. If you walk
past there, be sure and look at
the cute shutters on the house
west of the Oddfellows' Hall that
he has made into several apartments, and notice the splendid
cement retaining walls at both places. Both places are so attractive you will enjoy seeing
them if you have not been along
there lately.
The Michaelmas daisy is now
at its best, and the pale mauve,
tiny daisy-like flowers line our
roads in some places. I visited
a new home last week which
has a winding driveway and it
was a picture as you drove along
between lanes of those lovely flowers. They built with the view of sparing the lovely trees
and the house itself is set high
up with a gorgeous view in every direction. The large picture window at the west opens
out on the front lawn with two delightful hawthorn trees full of berries - just think what they
will be when covered with
blossom in the spring.
Before I end this I want to say that a neighbor has had a
magnificent Easter lily blossom
in her garden this past month -
it was fully six inches across.
She has Angel's Trumpet and
narcissus flowers in her garden
now and as you pass her home
in the evening the air is fragrant
with their perfume.
At the home opposite Mr. Gil-
roy's Rev. F. M. Brunton's, immediately north of Lions Park, is
one to watch. His Virgin Bower
clematis covering the porch is still a wonderful sight, with the
verandah boxes full of petunias
and perennial candytuft and
sweet alyssum and scarlet geraniums. Do take a walk and
see it all for yourself.

Now you are learning how this great

Pages from the Editor's Notebook

Saturday Night has been unique in Canadian journalism. It was a "slick" periodical which eschewed a mass market for the exclusive, using its snob appeal to maintain its sales. Yet for all this, it has established an editorial reputation of great merit. Under its present editor-in-chief, Mr. B. K. Sandwell, the editorial page, quite literally "The Front Page", was a potent influence.

Saturday Night's limited market was a handicap. Most Canadians knew of it best by the quotations from its editorial pages which appeared in the newspapers of their choice. This week, however, Saturday Night has departed from its limited appeal in favor of a format that in many respects resembles the weekly news magazines, Time and Newsweek, whose favor Saturday Night publishers no doubt hope to supplant with their new product.

The new Saturday Night gives departmentalized news in art, theatres, films, books, business, foreign and domestic news much like the American magazines except that the news is written from a Canadian point-of-view. The major difference between Saturday Night and Time and Newsweek is that the editorial pages are retained and there is a women's section and fiction. A minor criticism is that some of the news is written in a manner similar to the prose of Time and Newsweek and it grates on the reader turning to the new Saturday Night for relief from the former.

As a development in Canadian journalism, Saturday Night is sufficiently unique and hopeful of success to attract comment. It is better distinguished by its faith in Canada. Its editorial credo is expressed as a belief "in the Canada of 1867, in the Canada of today, and in the Canada of 21st century". Canadians are reluctant to a fault to acknowledge their national heritage. We are occasionally proud of Canadian accomplishments but we are unaware of a common pride in our nation and ourselves as Canadians. It will not be the fault of the Saturday Night if that pride is not more fully asserted. We wish the new magazine the best.

Since last Wednesday, all other concern appears to have been suspended in favor of the world series. Every day activity is halted while batting averages are discussed and old records recalled. This is not unusual for baseball fans at this time of year. What is unusual is that those who ordinarily wouldn't know first base from a sack of potatoes are as rapt in their interest as the hardest fan.

What is the reason for it? Is it because the advent of the world series offers for us all, fan or not, an opportunity to escape our cares in mass migration? Is it simply that the disinterested are infected by the enthusiasm of the interested? Does it matter? It's world series time again. Play ball!

The Davis Leather Co. has more than doubled its shipping during the past ten days. Cane's factory is shipping six cars of woodenware this week and orders are coming in with a rush.

Big market last Saturday, according to the files of 50 years ago. The Metropolitan railway is beginning to draw the crowds here. Eighteen cents was the usual price paid for butter, 19 cents the highest. Eggs were firm at 15 cents a doz. for hucksters and 16 cents for townpeople. Dressed chickens sold from 20 to 60 cents according to size. Large quantities of potatoes sold at 40, 45 and 50 cents a bag, northern spy apples were 83 a barrel and hand-icked snow apples, $1.75 a barrel. Miss Bella Goodfellow spent last week in Bradford, the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. Garrett, then left to take up missionary work in India.

Mr. Wm. Rennie has received the appointment of principal of St. Thomas public school and left on Saturday to take up his duties.

The annual meeting of the curling club was held at the Forsyth House on Tuesday evening and the officers elected were: Dr. Stuart Scott, pres., J. A. Bastedo, vice pres., W. A. Bruntton, sec.-treas. A large number of new members joined the club and a successful season is anticipated.

Mr. Jesse Hilborn, South Superior, Wis., and his son, Burton, Spokane, Wash., were visiting relatives and friends in Kettleby recently. It is 13 years since Mr. Hilborn left for the west.

Mr. F. Arthur Oliver has accepted the position of organist and choirmaster at Wesley Methodist church, Toronto.

Miss Mary Jones, Toronto, was the weekend guest of Mrs. Lukes, Bradford. She recently returned from Honolulu where she was on the nursing staff of the city hospital.

Mrs. T. O. Townsley and four children are here from British Columbia to spend the winter with her sister, Mrs. Meyer.

The masons started yesterday on the stone foundation of a new stable for Dr. Hutt, on the old Nash property south of the Christian church.

Office Staff For Police

The police cannot be in two places at one time. When they are required on the street, they are frequently in their office. When wanted at the office, they are on the street.

An instance of the latter occurred on Monday of last week. Chief Burbidge was investigating an accident on Davis Dr. when his office was called with a report of a stolen car. After several fruitless calls and waste of time when a prompt report of the theft might have materially assisted in the arrest of the thief, the report was made to out-of-town police.

Newmarket is policed by four full-time men including Chief Burbidge. Two of them are on night shift and not available for day calls. The fourth man was having his day off. When Chief Burbidge went to the accident, he had to leave the police office closed.

Under the circumstances the employment of a clerk or secretary who can keep the office open when the police are on the street seems indicated. Someone familiar with police routine could have reported the car theft to the proper authorities without delay. If the telephone call had been more serious, he would have known where to locate the policeman on duty.

Indifference A Threat

Our age is specially fertile for the seeds of indifference. We have so much at so little personal cost that we do not treasure our bounty of natural resources and national tradition. We have become indifferent to the requirements of citizenship, and that indifference holds for us the greatest threat to our national safety.

This was, in effect, the message brought to members of Newmarket and district Lions clubs last week by the third international vice president, Mr. Edgar M. Elbert. It is a message which deserves the thoughtful consideration of every citizen. This is a troubled age; we are inclined to spend our time bemoaning the fact rather than disputing it by individual effort on behalf of our communities, our nation and our creed.

Mr. Elbert packaged this requirement under the term, "animated citizenship". What does it mean in terms of practical application? Mr. Elbert saw members of service clubs, for example, as "animated" citizens in the extent to which they contributed their time and effort to community service. Addressing a service club audience he was naturally more concerned with that aspect of citizenship, but one does not need to be a club member to be of service. Our community abounds with instances where, had more interest been shown, the community would be better off.

"Animated citizenship" too applies to the assumption of that obligation so frequently ignored, of the voter to see that his name is on the voting list correctly. The franchise was purchased for us at high cost in the past. We have paid nothing for the privilege of governing ourselves and so we have become indifferent to it. That indifference could cost us our franchise in time. That same indifference on a larger sphere could cost us all our hopes.

Grass Roots Champion

Most of the opposition to the metropolitan area comes from those little officials who see in any merger a threat to their own personal importance or the end of some lucrative but unnecessary public office, comments The Financial Post giving an approving nod in the direction of those planners who would compound Toronto's bigness by swallowing up the independent suburban municipalities.

We applaud those "little officials". We see them as champions of local self government in which is nourished the grass roots of democracy. Why should the suburban municipalities forfeit a goodly part of their independence for the doubtful virtues of centralized control of their services? They can hardly be criticized for wishing to remain free of Toronto's own problems even though the pill be sugar coated with assertions of the economy and efficiency to be had by merger.

The disadvantage of bigness is that it encourages bigness for its own sake. Toronto is pressing hard against the borders of adjoining municipalities. Instead of proposing the co-ordination of services like fire and police, garbage collection and the like, with the participating municipalities partners in their operation, Toronto proposes central authorities. It would be more to the point if Toronto were to reverse its growth. Already it suffers from hardened arteries as a result in over-indulgence. Why should it involve others in the results of this short-sightedness?

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

Wasted Resources

The difficulties of the young Czech immigrant and his sweetheart, forced to make their trysts on the deck of the Maid of the Mist because of immigration regulations which keep them separated, the man in Canada and the girl in the United States, for a brief few days held the imagination of newspaper readers. Their situation also served to emphasize the inadequacy of our present immigration regulations and the bankruptcy of the imagination of the people of Canada that they apparently condone these same shortsighted regulations.

Under Canadian immigration practices, much of the immediate advantages to be had from immigration is lost. Canada's demands of the immigrants have discouraged talented business and professional men from coming to Canada. Canadian refusal to acknowledge the qualifications of some of these immigrants has resulted in the foolish situation where they labor at menial tasks when they might be employed at creating jobs or meeting the needs of short-handed professions.

In fairness to the government, some of the restrictions on immigration arise from the insistence of pressure groups of one sort or another that their favored positions be protected from the rivalry of the newcomers. We do not advocate wide open immigration by any means, but surely in a country of opportunity such as Canada is, there is plenty of room for the new industries the immigrants might bring with them, and for putting to good use the professional knowledge they possess.

The heavy traffic on Yonge St. and the third over Thanksgiving was, like the weather, reminiscent of a midsummer holiday. Monday night, the cars were bumper to bumper as city residents returned to their homes after closing up their cottages or a day-long jaunt through the country.

Trend to Smaller Homes

(The Stouffville Tribune)

Except perhaps among the Mennonite groups and those who call themselves Mennonites, and now are United Missionary church worshippers, smaller families are quite the trend across Canada, and these groups have helped maintain a better showing for the old-time half dozen children in the home.

In this same line there is an obvious trend toward small, compact homes, often all on the one-floor type. Gone are the sprawling, spacious old homes that had many advantages when it came to house-cleaning without having to move one piece outdoors while another piece is cleaned. Yes, the day of small homes is here, brought about by high costs for building and heating, lack of help and a determination for smaller families.

There is logic in the trend toward the pocket-edition type of residence, but it finds no favor with the Neighborhood Workers Association, an organization which has just released its annual report in Toronto.

"The two-bedroom bungalows which are so prevalent today have very dangerous implications," says this report. "There is implied a definite limitation of the family of two children. Two-children families mean a community that is slowly dying."

There may be something in this, comments the Sault Ste. Marie Star, although school attendance statistics would not seem to bear out the contention. But the association might also have added that the small home is having its effect on the maintenance of family ties, which once was regarded as so important and on hospitality in general.

The gatherings of relatives that once were an almost annual feature in most families, no matter how far its members might have been scattered by marriage, employment and so on, are not so common today. Transportation-wise, they are easier to arrange than of old, but they are not as readily organized, not as satisfactory when the out-of-towners have to put up in hotels or tourist cabins.

But, however one may moralize, it is the hard facts of economics which have brought about the smaller homes. Construction costs, heating, even taxes are considerations. Over and above these things, in these days of shortage of family accommodation, there is a feeling almost of guilt on the part of the dweller in a large house in which there is empty space for much of the year and a sense, too, of needless financial loss when accommodation which could be so profitable lies idle.

Whether there ever will be a return to the more spacious living of the past only time is likely to decide.

Office Cat reports Catnips By Ginger

The new telephone directory came out last week with the extra yellow pages in it, as you know, boss. There are many things for which you can use a directory. Looking up phone numbers is one. But that is like saying one uses the latest model vacuum cleaners for taking the dust out of your rugs when we all know you can spray paint your car with them or give your dog a dry cleaning.

Some city telephone directories are used by circus strong men to tear in half. It was once said that the late Fats Waller, one of the original jazz composers, could get the telephone directory to mangle. There is no evidence in any reference books, however, that he did. He just could.

Some people find that they make good note books. Isabella has soufflé recipes on ours. It is said that Professor Einstein puts many of his notes on the theory of relativity on a telephone directory. Or was it an old shopping bag? Anyway, a telephone book would be just as suitable.

The telephone directory is probably the best read and most often referred to book on the continent. If it were sold, it would be a "best seller". Few other books are printed in more languages.

The new directory has added the yellow pages so that if you want to order some winter underwear or coal, you don't have to rack your brain trying to think of a dealer's name. You just look up in the yellow pages the title Winter Underwear or Coal and if that doesn't work, try Dry Goods or Fuels.

Maybe I should not be giving the Bell all the publicity, boss, because after all, these yellow pages make it an advertising competitor of ours but after all the directory is an annual publication and we are a weekly.

As office cat in charge of office personnel, I interviewed Barney the book worm, a little grub who is always eating the copy paper in my desk drawer.

"Have you tried the new directory yet?" I asked Barney. He said that he had. "I just love the mint flavor of that new green cover."

You see, boss, the telephone directory comes into the lives of us all. It's bread and butter in some businesses. It's cheese soufflé from the telephone directory in our home.

Gee, I was mad at missing the total eclipse of the moon last week. "Duff Viz" as they say in the R.A.F. What I was interested in was an old board next door who always bays at the moon. I wanted to see what his reaction would be. Probably a half-hearted bay.

It reminds me of the story about the total eclipse of the sun in 1932. A newsreel company sent two expeditions to South America to get authentic pictures of it. Weather prevented any good shots but the company had to have them.

A technical expert promised, "I'll manufacture a picture in my laboratory," and he kept his word. There was one flaw. When the picture was run off, the word "Manda" appeared in the face of the sun.

by "Back Concession" The Top Six Inches

The complaint by "Ginger, the office cat" about the boss giving "Back Concession" too much space has been read by "Back Concession". There is a reason and explanation for the boss' actions. The editor, to be able to give leadership in his editorials, must know what the public is thinking. The editor this spring decided that he should know more about the science and mystery of the "top six inches of soil". He thought he could get practical knowledge from his garden and by intense study of the theory of the green thumb.

That he, the editor, should make such progress as his hopes would lead him to believe, that he should be raised to the last degree in the most ancient and honorable of callings, that of agriculture rests, Ginger, with a recommendation from "Back Concession". Unless a local newspaper is the clearing house for the community opinions, views and criticisms, how is public opinion to be formed? Do our newspapers by the power of suggestion form public opinion or do our editors, reporters and writers try and give a true picture of what people are thinking? We are still smacking under the mean things that Ginger has said about the gentleness of the soil and our farm column. Wanting to crowd us to the back page and into a two-inch space with a time back jacket around our column! I would therefore call on each school section or someone in each school section in this colony to write into The Era and Express the reason, if any, why we cannot have township units of the federation of agriculture. There will be more than 100 letters. We will know who Ginger party who's who. Or will we?

If there are no letters the boss may decide that the farm people are not reading "Back Concession" and "Back Concession" may find he may have to write under advice and answers to the loveless by Aunt Nellie. Or the boss may find that The Era and Express is not being read in each school section and send Ginger to find out why. The editor must know your name and address if you write, but you may use a pen name for publication. Include the name and address of your school board secretary. The most interesting letters could be printed, the others could be tabulated and the numbers be printed under each school section. The letters could be sent back to the school board in each school section.

So you see, Ginger, by showing your claws and your nasty way of writing, you may be the cause or the start of a real farmers' organization. The farmers cannot expect someone to come to their school section and tell you what you want or need. If you think we farmers are doing all right, why, write and say so. If not, call a meeting in your school section. There is enough energy spent by farmers at the corner store or garage arm-waving and cursing things in general. If this energy were spent to write a letter, we might get some action.

The individual farmer can do nothing at all. Collective effort by labor and industry do get results. We wonder if when industry engages an efficiency expert and there can be no further stepping up production in the departments, to show profits could there be such a thing as working on farm prices? We can see no good reason why livestock prices should fluctuate $2 per 100 lbs. in a few days. There may be a reason but the average farmer does not know it. Well, here is hoping this one gets by the editor's desk. At least one letter from each school section. Cheerio!

OTTAWA LETTER

by

"Jack" Smith, M.P.
North York

I have received letters from many constituents who are concerned by news reports of the possibility of an increase in license fees for radio receiving sets. I have answered all these letters but in case others are similarly concerned I wish to assure all that so far, there has been no official suggestion that the government is considering any such move.

The whole matter of radio broadcasting in Canada is now under review by a royal commission, and in a brief submitted to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation it was suggested that the radio fee be increased to $5.

No one can foretell what recommendations the royal commission will make, but even if it should recommend an increased fee the government would not be obliged to accept the recommendation. It might be that the royal commission will recommend that radio broadcasting is so much a part of our national life, and contributes so much to our national welfare, that any expense in connection therewith should be paid out of general revenue. If such a recommendation were made it might or might not be adopted by the government. There definitely will be no change in the present radio license fee until the royal commission has reported to the government — and expressing an opinion as a private member and in no sense speaking for the government, I would say that there is little likelihood of any increase and I am hopeful that before long the present fee will be completely abolished.

F.M.'s Residence

There has been for some time a growing feeling that this country, like others, should provide a home in Ottawa for the prime minister. This week, trade minister Howe, acting prime minister during the absence of Mr. St. Laurent, announced that the government had decided to make provision for such a residence.

Some years ago, the government purchased the large Edwards property located on the banks of the Ottawa river. It has been rented to the Australian government and used as a legation. The government will ask parliament at this session for funds to rehabilitate this house for the use of Mr. St. Laurent and succeeding prime ministers. The house is beautifully situated and will be an official residence which will be a credit to Canada.

A trans-Canada highway has been a dream of Canadians for a long time. It was first mentioned many years ago and back in the '30's some work was done in some of the provinces. Then the war and the project was forgotten for a few years. Now it is coming to the fore again and it is hoped to take a real worthwhile forward step at this session. The actual work will be done by the provinces but the federal government can play an important part by supplying some of the necessary millions. The day may not be far distant when one will be able to drive from the Atlantic to the Pacific on a smooth ribbon of modern highway, all on Canadian soil. It is a dream worth dreaming and one which merits general support of Canadians everywhere.

Party Standing

The party standing in the house of commons following the June 27 election was: Liberals 193, Progressive Conservatives 41, C.C.F. 13, Social Credit ten, Independents four, Ind. Liberals one, total 262. Resignations due to appointments have already accounted for vacancies and death has caused two more. The by-elections to fill the eight vacancies will be held October 24.

Women in Parliament

Fifteen women were candidates for parliament in the June 27 election and all were defeated. Five women have held seats in the commons. Miss Agnes MacPhail was elected as a Progressive for East Grey in 1921 to be the first of her sex to represent a Canadian constituency. Mrs. George Black represented Yukon from 1935 to 1940 when her husband, a Conservative, was absent from illness. Mrs. Doris Neilson, United Progressive, won Battleford North in 1940 and Mrs. Cora Casselman, Liberal, was elected in 1941 in Edmonton East. Both were defeated in 1945. Mrs. Strum, C.C.F., was a member of the 20th parliament but was defeated on June 27.

Lost Deposits

In the general election on June 27, 344 candidates lost their $200 deposit by failing to poll one half of the vote of the winning candidate. C.C.F. losses were 119, Conservative 101, and Union of Electors 52.

Record Majority

The largest majority gained by any candidate in the last election was won by the prime minister, Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent. His majority in Quebec East was 17,956. The smallest majority was in Annapolis-Kings, Nova Scotia, where A. A. Elderkin, Liberal, won by five votes.

At Office

During the session I will be at my office in Richmond Hill every Saturday for the convenience of constituents who may want to see me personally.

Commemorating the Commonwealth Air Training plan, which turned out 131,553 airmen during the war, representatives of Britain, Australia, New Zealand and the U.S. were present at a ceremony at Trenton, Ont., air base. Climax of the ceremony, attended by a pageant of formation flying war planes, consisted of opening new wrought-iron gates by British secretary of state Sir Arthur Henderson, right. Prime minister St. Laurent then accepted the keys as a symbol of Canada's part in the plane. Fifteen planes were required to transport visiting dignitaries to Trenton for the ceremony.

Footnote-Notes

BY WILLIAM FOOTE
AURORA EDITOR

It is generally conceded throughout Aurora that, while we will have artificial ice for this winter's hockey and skating, we will not see the additions made to the arena before next year.

Last spring, the people of Aurora approved the proposal which included not only the installation of artificial ice in the Aurora memorial arena, but the improvement of the present arena building through additions on the west side. A committee was set up to plan and bring about this project.

The committee worked hard. Countless hours were devoted to the perfection of the plans to the last detail by the committee members. In their haste to bring artificial ice to Aurora, however, it would appear that they unconsciously allowed this aspect of the project to overshadow the additions to the arena.

Red Ink '49-'50?

The first year of operation with artificial ice for the arena will naturally be a crucial one. Will it or will it not sign off for the 1949-50 ice season with red ink? If the additions to the building were completed, the added facilities would undoubtedly increase the arena's money-making prospects. If nothing else, it would hold more cash customers and would prove to be a more attractive proposition to outside teams and organizations seeking ice time.

If the arena committee had concentrated upon the additions to the building, it would have been possible to have both the additions and artificial ice, for in time and planning, artificial ice is much the simpler of the two projects.

However, we won't have the buildings this season. And thus it becomes even more necessary that the arena stay out of the red, for who on the committee would advocate the completion of the building additions next year unless it did so?

Hockey Authority

A successful year for the arena requires crowd-pleasing, winning hockey teams. This would be greatly facilitated if Aurora hockey generally came under the control of one organization charged with the responsibility of providing Aurora with the best possible hockey teams each year. An organization of this sort would dig up team sponsors, suitable coaches and managers and would introduce into the present local hockey picture a stability now lacking. At present, Aurora hockey seems dependant upon the whims of private citizens each season, with a constant change of teams and names.

It is also necessary that the arena plan a sound money-making program of ice events if it is to stay out of the red. The ice should be in use at all times, including Sundays, and if not rented out for practices should be put to some other profitable use. Whether in use or not the ice still requires the running of the ice machinery and the employment of arena personnel.

The need for the arena to show a profit this year in its operation is even greater than if the building additions had been completed. It falls to the arena committee to lead the way in ensuring this success. By organizing the coming ice season properly this can be done. At the same time, a basic plan for future years will have been prepared.

Newmarket Legion
Asks Council Proclaim
Nov. 11 As Holiday

The Newmarket town council has been asked to proclaim November 11 a holiday for a Day of Remembrance. Last year the Legion requested similar action and a holiday was proclaimed.

The Legion has planned a parade and church service to mark this important date. After the town council gives its decision details will be published.

District E of the Legion is having a church parade to be followed by a business session on Sunday, Sept. 16, at Stouffville. A bus load of members from Newmarket will attend. Bus leaves market square at 9.30 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 16. Berets and medals will be worn.

A dart tournament is going well in the local branch along with other activities.

The canvas for wreaths for poppy day has been completed by the Boy Scouts and the response of merchants and industry has been good.

The Legion will consider sponsoring midget hockey this season as it has in past years.

Dr. J. Gordon Cook, chairman of the local committee for the diabetic survey, has been assured of the use of Legion hall and the co-operation of all members in this work. Members are urged to see that their families take the necessary tests when given the opportunity.

Mr. and Mrs. George Diceman, Concord, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Diceman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cox, Toronto, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Graham on Thanksgiving Day.

work being done to establish Lions clubs in Europe. At home, 54 more clubs were established in September, 1949 during the last quarter. "I contend that it is impossible to attend Lions club, to participate in its work, without improving your status as an animated citizen," he concluded, "and let us be a little more spiritual because God has blessed us so."

Vale Welcomes Lions

Chairman of the banquet was deputy district governor Fred Campbell. Rev. James Rhodes gave the invocation. Mayor Vale welcomed the guests with a humorous reference to the last time he had so acted, three years ago, when he had just become father of twins. "This time, I am the father of a beautiful baby daughter." He praised the Lions for their service work and remarked that as a municipal politician, he appreciated the Lions did not throw their weight around to get their own way.

Dr. Rynard, Orillia, introduced the head table of Fred S. Thompson, Rev. Rhodes, Mayor Vale, international councillor Gordon Belyea, district governor Bob Little, deputy district governor Fred Campbell, Newmarket Lions club president Art Evans, Bud Logan, deputy district governor Murray Hamilton, Toronto Zone 7, and Ed Walker, Midland, deputy district governor of zone 8.

HANDS IN TRAINING...FOR ONTARIO

Learning Business Practice

IN Ontario the wheels of industry turn for the benefit of every single one of us. Our lathes, dynamos, drill presses, farm combines, tractors, business machines, etc. are producing goods and services which earn dollars. These dollars provide food, clothing, medical care and other necessities which contribute to our security and high standard of living. Every single one of us, therefore, has a very personal interest in the flow of a steady supply of trained workers to industrial plants. These workers will operate machines which are important to our way of life.

We should appreciate, then, the co-operative efforts of government, industry and labour in the field of employee training. In schools and in factories our workers, young and old, are given the opportunity to develop new and specific skills in every field of business and industrial activity. For instance, every effort on the part of office workers to become proficient in typing, filing, shorthand and secretarial work, will mean greater business efficiency — will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and work.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

Our Way of Life Rewards

Ontario workers know they can earn more, have executive responsibility and enjoy a higher standard of living in direct ratio to the skills they acquire and the way they make use of them. That's always true in a free economy — that's why our competitive system will continue to make Canada great and a great place in which to live.

IT'S A Woman's World

BY CAROLINE E. ION

There are cook books and cook books. Some are coldly scientific in their exactness. Some with their accompanying colored photos make one long for the illustrated delicacies. Others give a picture of a way of life. Together with routine recipes they show the manners, customs or social observances of their period. Such a one is the gem through which we have been browsing these past cool evenings as we make the last batches of jellies. It was left with us by a thoughtful friend who felt that we would be interested in the 60-year-old book. It has proven very entertaining.

"The Home Cook Book" was compiled by "Ladies of Toronto and other cities and towns in Canada". It was published by the Rose-Bedford Publishing Company in 1879. "Tried, tested, proved", it deals with an amazing variety of subjects. There are chapters on table talk, medicinal remedies and dinner etiquette as well as recipes for a wide variety of dishes. As Ginger, the Office Cat, commented in his column, Catnips, on September 22, such books "ought to entitle themselves 'Cooking, Gardening, Philosophy and other interesting subjects' instead of hiding themselves under the general title 'Cooking'." (Let's not be mercenary, Ginger, old boy and talk about fees. Hmm?)

In a letter to the publishers by a George Stewart, Jr., which serves to introduce the book we read, "A badly cooked dinner, the records of crime will show, has caused nearly half the suicides of the nation, and matrimonial infelicities may be traced to the same cause." We quite agreed with the latter, but the first remark is a bit steep. Maybe George's wife was a poor cook and he was speaking from experience of these manic-depressive tendencies.

But perhaps we are reading too much into his simple statement for he continues in a more lighthearted manner—"we have no schools of cookery, as you know, in our Dominion, where our young ladies may learn that art which the ancients deemed only second to medicine." Times have certainly changed in this regard during the past 60 years since this cook book was published for numerous universities in Canada now give courses in Dietetics and Home Economics. In Toronto at the present time, approximately 3,000 homemakers are attending a cooking school conducted by one of the daily papers. We were also interested to read a short time ago of courses in the arts of homemaking which the Red Cross was conducting in Toronto and only wished that the local branch could make them available to the women of North York. This would be a service which would meet with the enthusiastic support of all homemakers and particularly that of the young marrieds.

But to continue with our discussion of "The Home Cook Book". Mr. Stewart writes, "Many persons are blessed with a taste for gastronomy, and can descend as fluently on this science as others can of the theories of Huxley or the 'Social Studies' of Herbert Spencer. Poets have sung of the stomach and of good eating. Novelists have lingered lovingly over the maternal meal, and even the historian has not neglected to chronicle events intimately associated with generous living. The Scotsman discusses his haggis, the Englishman his chop, the Frenchman his pate, and the American would be uncomfortable all day Sunday, if his plate of beans and brown bread were forgotten. In Canada proper, we have no national dishes."

That was 60 years ago and practically the same thing was said by restaurant men and food manufacturers this summer when the Junior Chambers of Commerce began to look into our national food habits. If you recall, we mentioned their concentrated efforts to awaken in Canadian people an awareness of their national dishes and a desire to improve the culinary arts in our country.

Canadian women are interested in cooking as was shown by the recent survey conducted by Chatelaine magazine through its Consumer Council. They are baking more than they did before the increase in prices, both in the cities as well as in the rural areas. As a member of this council, we enjoyed working on the project, and felt that Newmarket women are equally as interested in cooking and home baking. From comments made regarding "The Homemakers' column we know that local women are interested in hearing of new recipes and particularly dishes for supper meals.

Perhaps this would be the best spot to state all the recipes we use in that column have been kitchen tested by the home economists of the Consumer Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. They come to you with a full guarantee that they have been carefully prepared and are worth your trying.

Well, we are still talking about food, but our little cook book hasn't received its full share of attention. Next week we shall try to do better by it.

The deadline for this offer has been set for Saturday, Nov. 19, so that the members are urged to place their orders early and thus assure themselves of delivery. It is also imperative that all orders be completed early so that the society's books may be balanced and audited in December. All types of bulbs for fall planting and forcing may be purchased at this saving.

St. Paul's W.A. To Hear Mrs. Greville of Toronto

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Paul's church, Newmarket, is holding its monthly devotional and business meeting in the parish hall this afternoon when they are having as guest speaker, Mrs. Greville of Toronto. They have invited the members of the Evening Branch to be present, and also the members of the sister branches of the Deanery of West York.

The new room for the beginners at Sunday-school is proving a great success. Now those of three years can be accommodated in a room of their own.

Next Sunday is being observed as Youth Sunday. For over 40 years the Church of England in Canada has been observing the third Sunday in October as Youth Sunday. The Rector, Rev. Jas. Rhodes, hopes that the congregation will make it a real "Family Day" as the best way to celebrate it. The men of the church had an old-fashioned "bee" on Saturday and Thanksgiving Day, painting the woodwork on the outside of the church. The weather was perfect.

Many From North York Attend Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stevenson (Ida Lang), Mount Dennis, celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage at their home on Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 10. The following North York relatives called to congratulate the happy couple on their golden wedding day:

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stevenson and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Keetch, Keswick; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Davidson and Mrs. James Stevenson and Mrs. John Thompson, Belhaven; Mrs. Cecil Harrison, Zephyr; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lang, Miss Ellen Lang, Mrs. Charles O'Neill, Mr. and Mrs. Tom O'Neill and Mr. Andy O'Neill, Sutton West; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stevenson and Mrs. Mrs. Bert Hunt, Aurora.

RESUME SERIES OF EUCURES

On Monday the Ladies' Auxiliary, C Squadron, Aurora, is starting its winter series of eucures in the amories. It is hoped that many of its old friends will be there and many new friends.

A good time has always been had at these parties, so come at 8 p.m. and join the fun.

ACCEPTS OTTAWA POSITION

The many friends of Mr. Donald Webster, a former pupil and school teacher in Aurora public school, will be pleased to know that he has been appointed science teacher at York St. school, Ottawa.

All his friends wish him much success in his new position.

Who Pays For Advertising?

NOT THE NEWSPAPER reader, because he saves both time and money by shopping the wide selection of honest values offered through the advertising columns.

NOT THE ADVERTISER, because advertising always returns a profit when it is used correctly and consistently.

Every line of advertising in our paper is paid for by the FELLOW WHO DOESN'T ADVERTISE! The business which the non-advertiser loses pays the cost of advertising, and ALSO returns a nice profit to the fellow who DOES ADVERTISE!

The merchant who does not advertise IS THE MAN WHO PAYS for advertising. He pays for it in the volume of business he loses—in the number of customers who buy elsewhere.

Good advertising does not cost. GOOD ADVERTISING PAYS! It brings back the original investment and profit dollars, too. Almost every store wants more business than it is getting. Hoping for more business is not as effective as inviting more business.

Advertising SAVES Money

Every once in a while somebody comes into our office and starts a discussion about the COST of advertising . . . not only in The Era and Express, but in newspapers generally . . . but, honestly, in our humble opinion advertising, particularly WEEKLY newspaper advertising, used intelligently and frequently, doesn't cost money at all.

Rather it helps move merchandise faster, permits distribution economies, provides for mass production and mass sales and ultimately lower prices, with savings both for the consumers, sellers, distributors, wholesalers and manufacturers.

Take for example the classic case of the nationally-advertised light bulbs. It costs only one-fourth as much now as it did for an inferior one in 1923. Again, in 1929 the average radio set cost $135 and only a few thousand people were proud owners. Now an average set sells for about $50 with ownership in the millions, and so it goes. Mass production, spurred on by judicial advertising, has brought prices down.

The Common Round...
By Isabel Inglis Colville
NATURE'S BLUEPRINT

When we—that doesn't include me, but is meant for clever people—want to make something very much according to specifications, we use a blueprint. When the other half of the family showed me one, I tried to look intelligent and mutter something appropriate, but instead of the blueprint, my eyes were looking at a dress pattern I once undertook to use. If it does one good to look back upon one's failures and learn from them—well—I can look back all right, but if faced with the same problem again, no doubt both sleeves would again be for the same arm and on one side of the skirt the flowers would go up and the other down.

But in spite of human mistakes we can still rest eyes and experience delight in looking at nature's patterns. Look at roses—their variety is infinite, their colors innumerable—but who could mistake a rose for any other flower? Each velvet petal is set with delicate precision and exquisite perfection and folded in each rose heart is a perfume that says "I am a rose", even before one sees the rose itself.

Who, having once learned, will ever mistake a maple for an elm? Specially now when the elms are pure gold and maples blaze in their royal scarlet? Look at the evergreens—a spruce is always a spruce, not a pine nor a birch nor a cedar. Each is true to its God-given pattern.

And we humans have used these patterns to blueprint our buildings, our furnishings and our clothes. Do you ever look at a church spire pointing heavenward, that another picture does not come to mind—that of a spruce tree lifting its evergreen spire toward the God who gave it shape and substance and beauty. Can you look at a great cathedral with its mighty columns and vast arches and its stained glass windows and not think of a mighty wood through which you've walked, especially at this time of year, with reverence and awe? Trunks of trees like mighty pillars all about you, breath-taking autumn shades through which the sunlight filters as through stained glass, and maybe at the end an arch of trees through which a bit of deep blue sky shows.

See the paper on our walls—oh I grant you, some papers are like nothing in heaven or earth—but many have the true beauty of flowers and trees and even landscapes, while in nurseries little animals parade, circus fashion, on walls and furniture.

In a thousand ways we make use of the God of nature's blueprints and reproduce poor or good efforts from them.

We judge a good picture—or used to—from its accuracy of delineation, from its truth in coloring and contours—then we followed God's blueprints. Now, it seems, in many cases as if the farther from truth a painter or writer can get, the more he is hailed as a realist—a surrealist! Perhaps in time truth and simplicity will reign again and we will pattern lives and work more after the only real Blueprint that was ever given us.

Eddie's Stubborn Streak

Eddie, five and a half years old, gets such stubborn streaks. When Eddie gets his stubborn streaks, he won't eat, speak or co-operate in any way.

There isn't much use trying to get a child to eat, when he has his mind set against eating. However, rather than allow Eddie to just sit at the table and not eat, he might be excused and allowed to just wait in the kitchen until the mealtime is ended. Nearness to the food and the happy time the other members of the family are having may whet his appetite. In any event, he shouldn't be present at the table in an inactive capacity and allowed to dampen the spirits or annoy the digestive systems of the other members of the family. When Eddie is disciplined a few times in this manner, his appetite will win over his stubbornness.

At times when a child refuses to speak because of a stubborn streak, his presence isn't desirable. This can be explained to a 5½-year-old such as Eddie and Eddie can be asked to go to his room and look at some picture books if he doesn't want to be sociable. If mother is alone with Eddie, she might decide to read or sew or bake a cake—or otherwise busy herself, letting Eddie understand that she doesn't want to be interrupted with his conversation. One of the quickest ways to break a silence is to try to prolong it—when a stubborn child has created it.

Eddie's lack of co-operation when he has a stubborn streak has made him rather the centre of commotion—whereas he should be, preferably, ignored and left to his own devices, where he can't disturb anyone else.

There are many causes for stubbornness among children. Some find that a very good way to get the attention they crave. Others are accustomed to having their own way and their spirit rebels when they lose some of their freedom, and still others are subject to moods and negative attitudes that make them balky. Whatever the cause, streaks of stubbornness should avail the striker no advantages.

Toronto Women's Clubs Hear Of V.P.'s Trip To Europe

Miss Margaret Hyndman, Toronto lawyer and international vice president of the Business and Professional Women's clubs, addressed a dinner meeting on October 6 which was held at the Union Station Oak Room. The meeting, which was attended by representatives from the six B. and P. clubs in Toronto and district was sponsored by the Downtown Toronto club. Attending from the Newmarket group was Mrs. Evelyn Georgas.

Miss Hyndman attended the international board meeting in Helsinki, Finland, this summer. She praised the industry and courage of the Finnish people as well as their warm hospitality. Miss Hyndman was presented to every member of the Royal family during her stay in England.

Queen Mary requested her to call and she spent nearly an hour with her. As a member of the Canadian Bar Association which has contributed towards the rebuilding of the Great Hall of the Middle Temple in London, England, Miss Hyndman was invited to several functions in the temple.

Another interesting feature of the meeting, which was also attended by representatives of other prominent women's groups in Toronto was the decoration of the head table. This table was graced by two massive antique brass candlesticks which were sent from the club in Tynemouth, England, in appreciation for the food and clothing parcels which the Toronto club has sent. The candlesticks are used at all the dinner meetings of the Canadian club.

DONALD MACMILLAN WEDS SASK. GIRL

Grace United church, Stoughton, Sask., was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday, Oct. 1, when Violet Evelyn, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Everingham, became the bride of Donald A. MacMillan, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce MacMillan, Queensville.

The church was decorated with flowers and fern sent from Vancouver and Langley Prairie, B.C. Rev. Lalond performed the ceremony.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, wore a floor-length gown of white sheer with tight fitting bodice, lily point sleeves and standing collar of silk lace. The flared skirt had a pointed peplum of lace. A double tiered circular veil fell below the waist-line and was held in place by a headpiece trimmed with seed pearls. Her only ornaments were a string of pearls and pearl ear-rings. The bride's bouquet was red sweetheart roses.

The bride was attended by Miss Helen Bowes who wore an aqua blue floor-length dress of nylon, and by Miss Lynette Lovering who wore a floor-length yellow taffeta. Both attendants had bands of pink roses holding pink shoulder-length veils, pink gloves and carried colonial bouquets of roses and baby mums.

The groom was attended by Mr. John Rollings, cousin of the bride. The ushers were Thomas Everingham and Cecil Clark. During the signing of the register Mrs. D. Forbes sang "Because" accompanied by the organist, Mrs. F. F. MacCrea.

The bride's mother chose black figured jersey with black accessories while the groom's mother chose grey crepe with black accessories.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors where about 50 guests assembled.

The bride and groom left for Banff by car. For travelling the bride chose a wine dress and hat and a green coat. She wore the groom's gift of twin mink furs. On their return, the couple will motor to the groom's home at Queensville.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandfather, Mr. Fred Hammond of Wolsley, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce MacMillan, Queensville, Mrs. E. S. Thirkell, Vancouver, B.C., Mrs. V. K. Turner, Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. L. Howe, Regina.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

by Don Graham

Keep small things small!
A man who returned from Europe described the trip as a dismal experience. The coffee in London was terrible. The telephone operators in Paris were exasperating. Everywhere he went he was plagued by poor service, antiquated plumbing or some other trouble.
Not a word did he say about magnificent cathedrals, famous art galleries, quaint customs or historic landmarks. All the priceless benefits of such a trip were wasted on him, because he couldn't keep trivial things in their place!
Other people with this fault may show it in different ways. On the job, obsession with petty grievances blinds them to important opportunities. Magnifying people's faults blights their relationships with friends—and even with other members of their own families.
So it pays to ask ourselves from time to time: "Am I making more of this matter than it really deserves?"
If it's small, keep it small!
Large things, on the other hand, should be kept large. Nothing is more important to the security of the family than owning life insurance. So wise fathers make sure that their life insurance policies are adequate for today's needs.

A new and charming addition to the ranks of Canadian air lines stewardesses are these three Chinese girls, slated for duty on the Canadian Pacific Air Lines flights from Vancouver to Tokyo and Hong Kong. Shown being welcomed at Vancouver airport by their Canadian colleagues, the girls will soon shed their picturesque Oriental costumes for C.P.A. stewardess uniforms, and will share duties with Canadian girls on the 6,500-mile run, one Chinese and one Canadian girl to each plane. On the C.P.A.'s Australian service, Australian and Canadian stewardesses share duties. Left to right are Lorraine Ngu, Shanghai; Minerva Dunkerley, Vancouver; Joyce Lam, Hong Kong; Barbara Aycliffe, Port Alberni, B.C.; and Gloria Woo, Hong Kong. A fourth Chinese lass, Dulcie Hall, Hong Kong, arrived in Vancouver earlier.

THE HOMEMAKERS

Lamb Has Advantages

Lamb is often considered a special treat in many homes because the elegant leg or crown roasts or rib chops are the only cuts used. These cuts are in the luxury class and correspond to the sirloin roast of beef or the more expensive steak cuts.
A breast or shoulder cut, dressed and roasted, makes a tender flavorful roast. Lamb is so tender that practically every cut may be roasted, broiled or pan-broiled. Lamb shanks with vegetables is an inexpensive delicacy. Lamb stew is also a favorite in many households.
STUFFED SHOULDER OF LAMB
3 to 4 lb. boned shoulder roast of lamb
3 Cups bread dressing
Have butcher remove all bones from roast and leave it flat. (Be sure to take home bones for soup). Wipe meat with damp cloth. Season with salt and pepper. Make 3 cups bread dressing and use to fill cavity in roast. Sew or skewer up the open side. Place meat on rack in an uncovered pan and do not add water. Roast in dry mustard and 2 tsp. vinegar to ½ cup mint jelly. If this a moderate oven, 325 degrees to 350 degrees, allowing 25 to 30 minutes per lb. for medium-doneness and 30 to 35 minutes per lb. for well done roast. If a meat thermometer is used, it should register 175 degrees for medium and 180 degrees for well done roast. Lamb should never be served rare.
A delicious glaze to coat roast lamb is made by adding ½ tsp.

is spread over the roast 10 minutes before it is removed from the oven it gives extra crispness and flavor.
DRESSING FOR ROAST LAMB
2 Cups soft, stale bread crumbs
1 Medium onion, chopped
¼ Tsp. salt
½ Tsp. pepper
2 Tsp. chopped mint leaves
1 Tbsp. chopped celery leaves
3 Tbsp. Chopped parsley
3 Tbsp. melted fat
Mix bread crumbs, onion and seasonings. Add melted fat and blend. Use as stuffing for roast lamb.
BARBECUED LAMB SHANKS
3 Lamb shanks
Salt and pepper
2 Cups water
2 Cups cooked wide noodles or rice
1½ Cups Barbecue sauce (recipe below)
Wipe meat with damp cloth, season with salt and pepper, cover with the water and simmer until tender, about 1½ hours. Remove meat from the bones and cut into 1-inch pieces. Place the cooked noodles or rice in a casserole, place meat over top and cover with hot Barbecue sauce. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 30 minutes. Yield: six servings.
BARBECUE SAUCE
1 Small onion, chopped
2 Tbsp. fat
1½ Tbsp. brown sugar
1 Cup water
½ Tsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ Tsp. paprika
½ Tsp. dry mustard
1½ Tbsp. vinegar
½ Cup chili sauce
Salt and pepper to taste
Dash of cayenne pepper
Brown chopped onion in fat. Add remaining ingredients and combine thoroughly. Bring to boil and use as suggested above. Yield: 1½ cups sauce.
LAMB BROTH WITH LEEKS
Cover lamb bones with water and simmer, covered, for 2 hours. Strain and cool. Remove fat and measure broth. For every cup of broth add 1 tsp. barley, 3 tsp. thinly sliced leeks (substitute onions) and salt and pepper to taste. Simmer slowly, covered, for 1½ hours to 2 hours.

Rev. Ernest Cooper, London, brother-in-law of the groom, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Stanley Murray, Woodville, cousin of the bride, sang a Wedding Hymn and I'll Walk Beside You accompanied by Mrs. Stewart Stickwood.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess style gown of white slipper satin with train, long sleeves coming to lily points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a coronet of lace and she carried a bouquet of pink roses, white gladioli and mums.

IMPORT FROM EUROPE

Germ Of New Industry Located On Roche's Point Farm

A small frame building on a former dairy farm near Roche's Point houses what promises to become a new Canadian industry. Ernest Nielsen and his brother Harry are manufacturing there a flower pot whose unique qualities permit the duplication for the potted plant of soil conditions outdoors.

The Nielsen pots are made by a secret process used in Europe where the pots are manufactured on a large-scale and are a common purchase in Belgium, Holland, France, Denmark, and more recently, Switzerland. Their manufacture was recently undertaken in the United States. The Nielsen enterprise is original to Canada and embodies improvements in design and color worked out by Ernest.

The pots are made in such a way that while they retain water, they are sufficiently porous to permit the passage of air through their walls. The soil in the pot is thus able to undergo essentially the same processes as soil out of doors after watering. As the moisture evaporates or is used by the plant, air can be drawn into it through the walls.

The advantages of the Nielsen pot are immediately obvious. The soil is thoroughly aerated to the benefit of the plant. No saucer or other container is required as for the ordinary clay pot. And the designs and colors worked out by Ernest Nielsen make the pots a decorative addition to any Canadian home.

The story of the Nielsen enterprise is that of a hobby which has become a business. Ernest was familiar with the product in Europe and when he came to Canada in 1947, he brought the secret of their manufacture with him. For over a year, he experimented with the pots in his spare time, ironing out the kinks which developed, finding new ways to color and improve the designs.

In the meantime, he helped his brother with his ice business. Harry Nielsen is a familiar figure along the lake shore where he has lived the last 11 of his 20 years since coming to Canada.

WINS CHAMPIONSHIP
Lois Blum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blum, R. R. 3, King, won two firsts, two seconds, and a fourth to take the championship at Bayview Farm.

learned more of his neighbors and they of him, he began to make small sales of his pots. Two weeks ago, he was able to put up a large display of his products at a convention in Montreal and is now planning for a sales campaign in the near future.

But there is a great deal to be done before the Nielsen product can be successfully marketed across the country. There is the machinery, for example. Ernest and Harry have done their work so far on machinery of their own design, supplemented by purchases at the junk dealers. They must replace it soon if they are going to enter mass production. New quarters will have to be arranged and employees trained. But all this will come, the brothers are sure. They have faith in their product, and the response from their customers has been encouraging.

Hunter Trials Held At Beverley Farm

At the hunter trials of the Toronto and North York Hunt held on Lady Eaton's Beverley Farms on Thanksgiving Day, Lou Scott captured the Prince of Wales Trophy for the second successive year in the featured event of the day. He won the two-mile steeplechase riding Prometheus owned by J. C. Cakebread. In second place and 50 yards behind the winner was Larry McGuinness on his Stephen L.

Good weather drew an unusually large gallery but also proved hard on the mounts and hounds. In the demonstration hunt which was the final event of the day hounds found the drag difficult to follow and the hunt lacked the driving finish of the preceding trials.

Result of the trials were: Novice hunters, Eaton Trophy: 1, Clinker, owned by Miss Janet Rough, ridden by Tom Gayford; 2, Haphazard, owned and ridden by Larry McGuinness; 3, Escapade, owned and ridden by Larry McGuinness; 4, Great Poise, owned and ridden by Edgar Burton.

Qualified hunters, Solar Eclipse Challenge Plate: 1, Worth, owned by Mrs. Hugh Wilson and ridden by Brian Herbison; 2, Rocket, owned and ridden by Major Gordon Gayford; 3, Dad's Double, owned and ridden by Major Charles Baker, Jr.; 4, Christine, owned and ridden by Harold Crang.

Qualified hunter pairs, Elder Challenge Cup: 1, Topper, owned by Harold Woolnough and ridden by Brian Herbison, and Escapade, owned and ridden by Larry McGuinness; 2, Countess, owned and ridden by Harold Crang, and Christine, owned by Dennis Fitzgerald; 3, Shawnee and Topsy, J. Quigley and E. G. Burton; 4, Wyngates and Grey Lady, Maj. Kindersley, MFI, and Miss Lynne Kindersley.

Prince of Wales Challenge Cup: two-mile steeplechase, 1, Prometheus, owned by J. C. Cakebread and ridden by L. C. Scott; 2, Stephen L., owned and ridden by Larry McGuinness; 3, Shorty, owned and ridden by Harold Woolnough; 4, Silver Slipper, owned and ridden by Mrs. Carol Pearson.

LARGER PUFFBALL
Last week, the Era and Express reported a puff-ball 36 inches in circumference had been found on the Wray farm by Mrs. George Wray, King, R. R. 2. This week, Margaret McGill, Queensville, reports finding a puff-ball 46 inches in circumference on the farm of Mr. Wm. McGill, Queensville, on Sunday.

Is there anyone who can report a larger find?

This little building is designed to hold a lot of conversation, although few people will ever enter it. It is also likely to be something of a gossip, because it will repeat everything it hears. That is because it is a repeater station, now under construction at Kettleby, in King twp., designed to amplify voice currents travelling along the new Toronto-Barrie-Orillia underground telephone cable. Vacuum-tube repeaters, similar to the tubes in a radio, pick up the voice currents passing through the cable; these voice currents get "tired" and fade away after a certain distance, and so the repeater gives them a lift and sends them on their way with renewed vigor. The architect's sketch above shows how the building will look when completed. The Emery Construction Company, Barrie, was awarded the general contract for construction of this "highway refreshment stand for tired voice currents".

PHONE WAY-STATION

Kettley Station Boosts Tired Voices

Cable-laying operations which commenced at Steele's Corner are moving north as work progresses on the new underground "voice-highway" which will link Toronto with Barrie and Orillia. The lead-sheathed cable will initially provide 70 additional circuits on this important long distance route, and will also carry radio programs.

The Toronto-Barrie section of the new cable is expected to be in service next spring, and completion of the Barrie-Orillia section is scheduled for the fall of 1950.

A repeater station, which will pick up and amplify voice currents passing through the cable, will be built at Kettleby by the Emery Construction Company of Barrie, contractors.

Sixty-four miles of the 82-mile cable will be buried by means of a cable plow and the remaining 18 miles will run through underground conduit. Thus, the new long distance circuits will be protected from wind and ice storms.

A long distance cable network, extending from Windsor to Quebec City, was laid largely by the cable-plow method that is being employed on the new northern route.

By this method, a cable plow, towed by two caterpillar tractors, plows a furrow from 30 to 50 inches deep and lays the lead-sheathed cable in a single operation. The cable is unreels in 1,500' lengths from huge drums carried on a platform behind the plow. A scraper at the rear fills in the furrow, and another tractor follows to tramp the earth down firmly.

At the junction points where one cable length ends and another commences, the cable gang digs a hole, leaving the two ends exposed. A splicing gang follows to splice the ends together. The cable is filled with gas under pressure as a protection against moisture. If the lead sheath is punctured, the gas pressure prevents moisture entering.

Fall plowing of a new type is now in progress in this area, as Bell Telephone plant and construction men proceed with the laying of a telephone cable designed to provide storm-resistant long distance service on the Toronto-Barrie-Orillia route. The plow train shown above is towed by two caterpillar tractors. The plow itself, third in the train, plows a furrow 30 to 50 inches deep and lays the heavy lead-sheathed cable in a single operation. The cable is unreels in 1,500' lengths from huge drums on a platform behind the plow. A scraper, towed behind, fills in the furrow and the following tractor tramps down the earth. Toronto-Barrie section will be ready in the spring, the remaining 26 miles in the fall of 1950.

Remand 'Ridges Man' For Sentence

Charged with assault occasioning actual bodily harm, William Stunden, 32, of Oak Ridges, had a conviction registered against him in magistrate's court, Newmarket, last Friday.

Complainant Fred Aldridge testified that Stunden was lying in wait for him when he arrived at the apartment he rented from Stunden around 2.30 a.m., September 27. He told the court that he went upstairs and charged that as he reached his door it was opened from within by Stunden who struck him.

William J. Aldridge, father of the complainant, testified that he was awakened around 3.30 a.m. that same night by a knock on his door. On opening the door his son tumbled in on the floor. "He looked as if he'd been in a threshing machine," said Mr. Aldridge. Mr. Aldridge, Sr., lives nearly six miles from Oak Ridges.

Testifying on his own behalf, Stunden claimed that Fred Aldridge was seven weeks' rent in arrears and that he thought he might leave that night. "I went up to his apartment and waited for him," said Stunden. "I stuck a knife in the door so I would hear him when he came home." Stunden claimed that Aldridge walked in and hit him in the stomach and that he chased him down the hall and "hit him a couple of times."

There was any self-defence," said Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake in registering a conviction against Stunden. "It's absurd that the complainant, a frail little man, struck Stunden first."

On the request of Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong Stunden was remanded one week for sentence. Stunden, who asked for time to straighten out his business affairs, was allowed bail which was set at $5,000 cash or $10,000 property.

Henry VIII had six wives.

Is Your Back Aching Today?

When you feel short, sharp twinges with every sudden move—you simply don't feel like working. Ask any housewife how painful it is to iron, sweep, or wash dishes—when her back aches so she can scarcely straighten up. ## NEWS 'N' VIEWS

By GEORGE HASKETT

ERA AND EXPRESS SPORTS EDITOR

Great Thanksgiving weekend. Quiet period in sporting circles giving us pause for reflection. Work is progressing rapidly at arena. Opening night is possibly six to eight weeks off, before Christmas certain. Three items need immediate attention: 1. commission to operate arena first. To meet requirements of obtaining provincial grant of $5,000, there should be seven-man board. This section is well in hand, the representative group more or less needing final o.k. 2. Naming of engineer and rink promoter or public relations man. Two-man job. Engineer could be appointed to advantage in near future and could then be in on the installation of the ice making equipment. Position of promoter calls for hustler if rink is to pay. Activity and schedule should be set up well in advance so that greatest possible use can be had. Best choices of ice time should be given our public, separate, high school and Pickering students, skaters and hockey teams. Thoughts, too, should be swinging to a bang-up opening night program.

3. Third and possibly most important from a hockey standpoint is: what are we going to have this year, men? Intermediate via the trolley league appears certain. Junior is probably a year or two away. Juvenile handled by Joe Peat and Barney Revell last winter with full practice schedule can be a top-notch club. Public school hockey teams through pee wee, bantam, midget, juvenile and junior should all be tied in together, and then by junior age we'll have some fine hockey talent. General hockey meeting could probably bring all organizations together to obtain the most out of artificial ice. Can't delay too long either with our intermediate crew as some of the teams, namely Stouffville, are already on ice at Oshawa.

What now men? Is you is, or is you ain't going to finish that softball series for the North York crown this year? Aurora Meteors and Newmarket Vets are still glaring at each other at four miles. Can't delay longer if it's to be finished. How's this for a suggestion. Double header this Saturday, one game Newmarket one chimes, second game Aurora town park four or four thirty. Make series two out of three. Third game a week Saturday if needed.

Haskett's Hash: Mostly incidental. Harold Gwyn is carrying the Newmarket interest in the Bradford lacrosse team. Bradford is entered in the Simcoe county circuit composed of Alliston, Camp Borden and Beeton. Bradford won its opening game last week with Mr. Gwyn leading scorer with six. Bradford has a home game tomorrow, Friday, evening. Matt Walsh, another of the lacrosse flock, is being played for a refereeing chore in the league. John Hines, trolley league presy, is in St. Mike's hospital, Toronto. Get well quick, fellow. Barney "Chubby" Revell, who came through the unpiring season in the Lake Simcoe whirl with a smile, suffered a fractured left arm while at work last week. We'll wish him a speedy recovery from all the fans.

Skipper Frank Courtney of the Barrie and District Ladies' League advises the teams will hold their annual banquet at Barrie November 4. Have more on their plans in the near future. Midland ladies won the Simcoe county championship and the Co-Paco trophy that goes along with the honor. New Toronto Legion, conquerors of our Vets over three games, have been bopping over all opposition since in two straight. One game away from Ontario championship on Friday. Beat Tillsonburg 2-0 in the first game so probably have it wrapped up by now.

Volunteer work crew at the arena over the weekend totalled 25. Howard Newton and Morris Crowder have welded close to a mile and three quarters of pipe. Seven and a half miles does the job. Nice start. Work continues nightly this week. You can help. No offer refused. Sidewalk superintendents asked to bring their working clothes.

Modern times note. Quite a gathering at Stew Beare's and at Les Beazer's coffee eating emporium for the world series games via television. Be prepared, had better be the canal town slogan. Aurora has organized a wrestling club. Not a bad idea to consider locally. Could work up quite a grunt and groan series between the two. See you in the hash next week.

Ainslie's Collies

Give Demonstration

John Ainslie, Kettleby, brought his four border collies to the International Plowing Match at Burford to demonstrate handling of sheep and ducks.

Twice during the afternoon the dogs drew many spectators as they went through their paces herding sheep through a field, putting them into pens and taking them out and down the field to another. When they concluded their sheep herding ducks were turned loose and the dogs herded them around the enclosure with equal efficiency.

OLD BOYS AT P.C. FIELD SATURDAY

The fall sport program at Pickering College, Newmarket, centering around football, is well underway indicates C. R. "Blackie" Blacklock, athletic director. While the P.C.'s pigskin teams, senior, intermediate and junior, are not entered in any grouping, several exhibition games have already been played and more are scheduled for future consideration. Intramural six-man rugby allows other students to share in the full sport program. The other sport drawing attention is soccer. The blue and grey has games billed with Bradford, Aurora, Richmond Hill and St. Andrew's.

Major event this Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the school on the hill will be the Old Boys' game. The Old Boys and present-day students will stage their traditional fall pigskin contest and judging from previous years, the new field will no doubt take considerable punishment in its first test.

Formerly at Pickering Youth Dies on Highway

Instantly killed at Bradford Sunday evening was Patrick Brown, 20, Brunswick Ave., Toronto, when his motorcycle rounded a curve and sideswiped a car near the southern outskirts of the town. Riding pillion behind Brown, Harry Lovelace, 19, Craighurst Ave., Toronto, escaped with minor bruises.

Patrick Brown was born in the Argentine and came to Canada about six years ago. He attended Pickering College until two years ago when he obtained employment with Massey Harris Co. in the foreign sales department. Surviving is his mother, Mrs. Muriel Brown.

ON THE ALLEYS

By PIN-BOY

Well bowlers, now's the time to start talking turkey if you'll pardon a left over pun from Thanksgiving. Indications are you're bringing out all the strikes and spares hoarded up over the summer months. So if you have any "vows" of scores, or unusual happenings, phone 191 to George Haskett, your "pin boy", and the rest will be history. In the regular course, if the league secretaries will kindly leave their scores, league standings, etc., either with Joe Smith at his bowling academy or with Ernie Benitz at the North End, we will be able to gather them up there. This applies especially to our out-of-town readers who we like to keep up to the minute.

Are hep to get some real action into our buzzing this winter, keep you informed on what the other leagues are doing so keep those strikes and spares coming. Will get away next week with some organization notes, leagues and scores. See you across the pins.

President Hines III, Metro Loop Meeting Postponed Two Weeks

Because of the illness of President John Hines, the North York Metropolitan League executive meeting scheduled for last Thursday was postponed. The election of officers and program of the coming winter's activity will likely be held in a couple of weeks' time.

Latest advice from all four entries of last winter, Sutton, Bradford, Aurora and Newmarket, is that they are all ready to come in again this winter.

There is no change in the condition of Procy Hines who is at present in St. Michael's hospital, Toronto. Our busman did a good job last year and appears to be a lead-pipe cinch for a return to the main office.

Life For A Pro Candidate

The ease history of Jack Andrews will be of more than passing interest to would-be hockey players, interested parents and hockey fans generally. Andrews, as was reported earlier, went to Minnesota to attend college as a protegee of Chicago Black Hawks under Doc Romnes. Unfortunately his Ontario exam results didn't qualify him. He returned to try out with Buffalo at Fort Erie and there signed a C contract with the Bisons chain. Not being assigned any place at that time, he journeyed to Galt and made the grade with the Rockets in junior A, meanwhile continuing his schooling.

Unfortunately, the Rockets played several exhibition games before either securing permission for Andrews to play with them or allowing the lad to make his own arrangements. A rival junior A coach, "is said, intervened and Andrews was ordered to leave Galt by the Bisons and to play his hockey with either Fort Erie, Buffalo or St. Catharines Tee-Pees. Fortunately, Andrews appears good enough to make the grade with the Tee-Pees and as a consequence he will be playing with Art Jackson's team and attending school in St. Kitts. The lad hasn't been treated badly as it turns out but you can see there is no freedom of choice left to a promising young player and that, regardless of personal wishes, the pro club can call the tune. If necessary you can be dropped to a lower series or left on the bench all season.

Aurora Hawks visited Galt last week to look for players and four fine prospects were picked off by the Aurora management to report as jobs or other arrangements are concluded. We have not been officially advised as to the players, but we obtained from a source close to Galt that a goalie, defenceman and two forwards, one able also to play defence, have indicated they are willing to play in Aurora with Galt sanction. Owen Sound, Listowel and Toronto are the home centres of the players concerned. Let's hope the kids arrive here as planned without being side-tracked elsewhere.

Dougie Moore, now in his third year in junior, will be trying for the Aurora goal spot again. Moore worked out with Marlboros but results weren't as anticipated. Moore didn't play as well last year as expected, but on the other hand his protection wasn't as good as it might have been. Quick as a cat, Moore is leaving a lot of net to be covered. There are those who say he's having a bit of eye trouble which can be remedied, if he comes back to the form of two years ago Red Mitchell's goal problem will be neatly solved.

Lou Donovan, ex-Maritimes boxing star with whom we had some association in the army, was in town on Sunday last seeking information on entry in the Metropolitan league. Lou had officials of the Naval Vets team of the T.I.L. with him and a couple of ex-servicemen from the Maritimes who belong to an Easterners club. Lou is interested in securing admittance to the Metro loop and would play home games at either Richmond Hill, Stouffville or Aurora. We turned him over to Hal Rogers to deal with.

Danforth Maple Leafs, who will play in the junior B series, have booked Stouffville arena as their home ice and they'll likely be officially adopted as a "home" junior team. Doubtless the Toronto lads will be placed in the same group as Aurora Hawks. North Toronto Lions will again use Nubleton for their home ice and they too will likely be accommodated in the local grouping.

Markham Millionaires will be without the services of the Bangay Brothers and George Stark for the current hockey season. The trio of favorites were expected to rejoin their old teammates until a few weeks ago when the offers began pouring in and the pressure was put on Nick Bangay. Bob Bangay and George Stark will again be with North Sydney Victorias in the Cape Breton senior league, while Nick Bangay reported to Portland Roadhogs of the Pacific coast league. The boys left last Wednesday, staying over for the banquet and presentation to the Burlington softball club, winners of the Markham twp. league.

Lawn Bowlers Active Over Thanksgiving

Newmarket lawn bowlers took full advantage of the fine Thanksgiving weekend weather to keep their season alive. They rolled off a pair of tournaments, invitation doubles Saturday and mixed trebles Monday. Andy Mursion and Stan Smith combined Saturday for three wins. Other three-game winners was Travis Weston rink. The three-game winners made sure of celebrating Thanksgiving dinner in traditional style by taking home turkeys.

Art Chapman's Weston duo were high for two wins and Skinner's Port Credit rink headed the one game winners. Feature game of the afternoon was that between Andy Mursion and Stan Smith on one side and Jack Luck and Jim Law on the other, both undefeated up to this point. The former twosome made sure of their three wins with three in the final end.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McCaffrey and Tommy Scott combined to capture first prize in the mixed trebles tournament Monday. Their total for three wins was 50. Burley's rink, Cosgrain Park, Toronto, gave the winners toughest opposition with three wins for 47. Dr. S. J. Boyd led his Toronto partners to high for two wins. Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Watt and Miss Mabel Patterson, Aurora entry, topped the one-game winners. Prizes in each case were chickens. Sixteen rinks were entered from Toronto, Stouffville, Aurora and the host club, Newmarket.

Further activity on the local greens is planned should this weather hold on.

The boys left last Wednesday, staying over for the banquet and presentation to the Burlington softball club, winners of the Markham twp. league.

Harry Watts and the Millionaires' coach Earl Robinson, naturally disappointed at losing the trio, are not despondent at the prospects. Here are some of the candidates for the club: goal, Frankie Carr and Norm Stundent; defence, Fred and George Scott, Dick Perry, Mac Clement, Don Campbell; forwards, Ken Brennan, Reg Singleton, Harry Milroy, Bert Baker, "Polly" Minton, Howard Forgie, Bruce Forgie, Jackie Watson, Chuck Nesbitt, as well as about 20 others. Newcomers in the list are Sturden (Unionville juniors), Clement (Varsity juniors), Campbell (Stouffville intermediates), and Minton (Unionville juniors). The team, pending the O.H.A. decision on a Metropolitan area, is tentatively expected to be rated as senior B. If an area is created without embarrassing restrictions, Stouffville will be represented by a senior B club headed by Tim O'Neil and coached by Bert Tyfe, who handled Marlboros juveniles last year. The affiliation for players seems well indicated in that case. Rather than a wide open territorial arrangement, Stouffville will likely enter the Metropolitan league as either intermediate A or intermediate B. Properly arranged with fewer "imports" they could rate the latter series on population.

This year there will no rink at Unionville and there will be as a consequence no junior hockey team. Unionville, however, will have an intermediate team, tentatively rated as B and composed of ex-junior players. They expect to operate out of Stouffville and will be linked with Markham Millionaires. If the senior B entry at Stouffville does not materialize, this could be in reality the Stouffville intermediate club. Remember the Victoria Square set-up in junior which beat the matter of territory and players? Under the name "Unionville" the same thing could happen. Harmony between Stouffville and Markham seems essential in any case.

We regret to learn that Carl Sellers, sub-goalie for Markham, who under ordinary circumstances was plenty good to play for most clubs, will not play hockey again. Sellers is troubled with an ankle injury and he's taken on the trainer's job with the Millionaires. Ernie Smith, who guarded the nets for Aurora intermediates last winter and despite poor defence protection, played strong hockey, has definitely decided to retire. Come what may, so far as an Aurora team is concerned, "Snitty" will not don the pads again.

Merv Broughton, husky Newmarket boy who played with Galt Rockets last winter, will play his hockey in the Michigan-Ontario loop this winter. He would have fitted in nicely with Newmarket intermediates. Bud Watson, Unionville juniors, having failed to make the grade at Barrie, has been sent over to Stratford for a trial and more than likely will stick with the classic city crew. Watson, with Unionville juniors' out, would look mighty sweet in an Aurora Hawks sweater.
